Tax Hike Unjustified: Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said today he doesn't think President Johnson's request for a tax hike is justified—a view that puts him in some disagreement with two top GOP lieutenants.

Ford said if the bill came up now the House probably would defeat it.

Two other leading House Republicans, Melvin R. Laird and John W. Byrnes, both of Wisconsin, have indicated support for Johnson's proposed income tax hike.

Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, recently said that while he isn't enthusiastic about the proposed hike, he probably would support it. He cited as his reason the administration's "failure to be responsible in the field of fiscal management."

Byrnes, senior Republican on the taxwriting Ways and Means Committee, led the nine other GOP members of the committee in fighting Johnson's request to increase the debt limit by $29 billion. Byrnes contended a tax increase must be considered in efforts to reduce the deficit and to reduce the need for increasing the Treasury's borrowing authority.

Ford said in an interview that Johnson has not made a case for his tax hike request.

"The administration has not made any effort whatsoever to hold down non-defense spending," Ford said. "If the administration would cooperate with the Republican leadership in the House we could reduce nonmilitary expenditures sufficiently to preclude the need for a tax increase."

The Johnson administration, Ford said, wants to continue excessive domestic spending for purely political purposes. This, he said, would stimulate an inflationary increase in the cost of living.

"I believe the people resent a guns and butter policy," the Michigan Republican said, "and resent being forced by the Democrats to pay for butter in higher taxes."

Newberry Boy Drowns At Park

Near Budget OK $53 Million Shy Of Romney Goal

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature is reported near agreement on a balanced general fund budget of about $1.1 billion for the new fiscal year, about $35 million more than the 1966-67 spending level but some $53 million less than Gov. George Romney asked this year.

The House Appropriations Committee estimates net state general fund revenue for the new year will be $1,106,909,937.

Although fiscal 1967-68 is more than a week old, none of the bills authorizing state spending for the year has received legislative approval.

Agreement on a final package was thought unlikely until later this week. Senate sources said most members of the chamber's powerful Appropriations Committee would be away from Lansing until Thursday.

But it was understood that individual House - Senate conference committees had reached agreement on all but one of the 14 major appropriations bills, including a controversial measure pegging the general fund school aid increase at $17.9 million.

Work To Midnight

Lawmakers worked until midnight Saturday trying unsuccessfully to wrap up the billion - dollar spending package, and even considered an unprecedented Sunday session.

A resolution permitting the Sunday meeting passed in the Senate. The House was debating it as midnight passed.

The Senate, learing the House had not passed the measure, adjourned, leaving the House little choice except to adjourn also.

Majority Senate Republicans had wanted to wind up the work over the weekend, expressing concern that pressure for higher state spending would increase if final agreement was delayed until this week.

Although the Legislature reconvened today, work on the appropriations bills was expected to be stalled by the absence of the Senate committee.

Kill Police Fund

The House, over the objections of its strongest school - aid advocates, Saturday voted down a Senate proposal to take $11.6 million from restricted highway funds to help meet the $23.7 million State Police budget.

The Senate has not approved any school aid increase, but Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, House Democratic leader and Appropriations Committee member, said tentative agreement had been reached to pay public school districts $315.5 million this year. The 1966-67 aid figure was $297.6 million.

Ryan said conference committees had reached agreement on all but the social services (welfare) appropriation bill.

List Major Spending

The House-passed version of the measure would appropriate $174 million. The Senate approved only $135.4 million. Ryan said negotiations on the bill were in the area of $167 million.

Conferees reportedly had reached agreement, subject to approval by both houses, on these other major spending items:

General government	$81.46 million
Conservation-agriculture	$19.16 million
Higher education	$246 million
Public health	$18 million
Mental Health	$131.2 million
Corrections	$22.92 million
Capital outlay and planning	$63.6 million

UAW Asks Profit Share

By A.F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther indicated today his United Auto Workers will demand a bonus based on profits and payable on top of a guaranteed annual income in new contracts with the automotive industry this year.

Reuther's disclosure came in a news conference just before the first of the 1967 bargaining sessions began, this one at the nation's largest automaker, General Motors Corp.

Shortly before, Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president for personnel, hinted the corporation is agreeable to a wage increase, but added that "this appears to be a crucial (economic) year—for GM and for the nation."

Asked if he were going to talk about profitsharing in this year's negotiations, Reuther told the news conference, "We're going to talk about 'equity sharing.'"

Second Increment

He then explained an attempt would be made to win a basic salary for workers, just like executives, and that "after the year is over and we know exactly what the size of the profit pie is, the worker shall be entitled to a second increment" in pay.

Reuther has made a guaranteed annual income a top priority in this year's negotiations and says a worker must know at the beginning of a year what his income will be for the next 12 months, any layoffs notwithstanding.

He reiterated today his frequent claim that "the economic facts demonstrate neither GM employes nor consumers have gotten their fair share of the profits from General Motors Corp."

Annual Income Third

The Detroit News reported, meanwhile, that a poll of UAW members showed they place the guaranteed annual income proposal a poor third in their preferences in this summer's contract talks. Wages ranked first, with retirement program improvements—earlier retirement emphasized—a distant second.

Seaton said earlier the auto industry's cost-of-living clause, which increased wages 18 cents hourly during the current three-year pacts, "must be given full recognition in negotiating a new contract."

He said government statistics show that only about three million of the nation's work force of 70 million have cost-of-living wage escalators.

$4.68 An Hour Now

GM workers were described by Seaton as being in the top third income group in the United States with an average wage, "including cost-of-living allowances and many fringe benefits," of $4.68 per hour.

"Furthermore," he added, "their straight-time wages are 30 per cent above the average for all manufacturing employes throughout the country."

Seaton said, "Our employes have very substantial guarantees of income in cases of short work weeks or layoffs" under present contracts.

Besides a guaranteed annual income, Reuther is carrying to the bargaining table a demand for a substantial wage increase, but has not yet said what size income or what size increase he is demanding.

Details Wednesday

Reuther said details would be laid on the table Wednesday and disclosed publicly at that time.

The union is seeking, among other things, a joint expiration date for U.S. and Canadian contracts. Asked about this, Seaton said, "That's a matter for negotiation in Canada."

Reuther opens contract talks with Ford Tuesday and with Chrysler Wednesday, still about two months before the manufacturers splash their 1968 models onto the market.

Road Mishaps Kill 15 In State

By The Associated Press

The death of two elderly Flint-area women in a two-car collision raised the weekend death toll on Michigan highways to at least 15.

The women were headed towards Flint on M 57 when they pulled out of the median on U.S. 27 and were struck by a car, police said. It was not known which victim was driving.

At least four persons drowned over the weekend.

The Associated Press fatality count started at 6 p.m., Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Traffic victim in the U. P. was:

John A. Krogdahl, 16, of Castleton, Ky., when the car in which he was riding collided with another car at an intersection in Marquette County Saturday.

UN Will Send Military Group To Clash Area

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council decided today to send military observers to the cease-fire line along the Suez Canal where Israeli and Egyptian troops have clashed during the past two weekends.

As Secretary-General U Thant prepared to seek Israeli and Egyptian acceptance of the U.N. observers, informed sources in Amman said King Hussein of Jordan would go to Cairo today to meet with four Arab government chiefs gathered there.

Hussein was expected to urge moderation toward the victorious Israelis, and there was prospect of a clash with President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria and Noureddin Atassi of Syria, who have repeatedly demanded continuation of the war against Israel.

Jeep Hits Mine

President Abdel Rahman Aref of Iraq also was expected to join the summit conference with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

An Israeli army jeep hit a mine on a road east of the Suez Canal Sunday, killing one soldier and wounding two others, an Israeli military spokesman said. He said other mines were found and there were footprints between the canal and the road.

The Security Council met to hear Israeli and Egyptian countercharges stemming from a nine-hour battle of airplanes and artillery along the canal Saturday. The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said Egypt would need to know the observers' exact job and the extent of their authority before agreeing to accept them. These details were left to be worked out by Thant and Norwegian Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N.

M'Namara Says War Situation Improves

SAIGON (AP) — Three U.S. Navy cruisers pounded Communist gun positions in the demilitarized zone Sunday as the Red guns kept up their lethal artillery and rocket barrages on sandbagged Marine positions just below the zone.

The U.S. Command also reported that photographs of a bombing raid near Hanoi showed the Communists may have lost 68 of their antiaircraft missiles to one devastating naval air strike.

Little ground action was reported as U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara toured battle zones for the second day. After visiting the embattled Marines below the demilitarized zone Sunday, he shifted today to the Mekong Delta to look into pacification programs, tour a Special Forces camp and visit the new Army-Navy Mobile Riverine Force which moves infantry about the watery delta.

Off the demilitarized zone, the heavy cruiser Boston joined the heavy cruiser St. Paul and the light cruiser Providence and the three moved close insore to pound Red positions with 15 8-inch guns, 6 6-inch guns and 5 5-inch guns. The 8-inchers can reach almost 15 miles inside the zone.

Raid Missile Storage

The heavy blow at the Soviet built missiles came two days ago when Navy fliers hit a barracks area and missile storage site at Ban Yen Nanh, 14 miles southeast of Hanoi. It was the first raid against the area which apparently had been well scouted by reconnaissance planes.

A spokesman said pilot reports and photos after the strike disclosed that 68 canisters in which missiles are stored were hit by the raiding planes and the area was dotted with flames, explosions and broken wreckage.

Th spokesman said the photographs did not disclose whether missiles were actually inside the cannisters but it was likely they were loaded. However, the cannisters were not believed to have contained the explosive warheads of the 37-foot-long missiles.

Rockets Rip Runway

Amid the continuing artillery and rocket attacks on the Marines, seven Red rockets ripped up the runway at the Dong Ha airstrip 11 miles below the zone.

McNamara, who flew by helicopter within five miles of a fight between North Vietnamese and U.S. Marines Sunday near the zone, saw the flash of exploding artillery shells and of bombs from U.S. aircraft.

The secretary told newsmen the North Vietnamese, as a result of their diversion to the northern battle front, "can't put as much pressure on the government of Vietnam or the people of Vietnam in that God-forsaken area near the DMZ as they can in the Central Highlands or the 3rd Corps (Saigon area), where the population is located."

Asks For Troops

"The military situation is improving," he added.

However, McNamara, it was understood, did not feel this meant that more U.S. troops are not needed. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of American forces in Vietnam, reportedly has asked for at least 100,000 to reinforce the 466,000 already in the war.

The commanding general did not go with McNamara on today's inspection rounds in the Mekong Delta. Westmoreland took an emergency leave to fly back to the Unitd States to attend the funeral of his mother, who died Sunday in Columbia, S.C.

McNamara is expected to end his ninth inspection trip to Vietnam Tuesday and fly back to Washington.

5% Income Tax Limit Has House Opposition

LANSING (AP) — Backers of a move to limit Michigan's recently approved personal income tax to 5 per cent directed their attention to the House today following a second round victory in the Senate.

Shortly before midnight Saturday, the Senate approved 27-7 a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment limiting any state imposed personal income tax to 5 per cent.

The same resolution was defeated 24-12, two votes short of the necessary two thirds, last May 18, the same day the Senate approved a state income tax, which, greatly modified, now awaits Gov. George Romney's signature.

If the resolution, sponsored by Sen. Milton Zaagman, R - Grand Rapids, is approved by the House it will be placed on the November, 1968, ballot for approval by the state's voters.

If the people approved, the personal income tax which stands at 2.6 per cent under the new income tax bill could be raised to 5 per cent and no higher.

"We have the governor's blessing on the 5 per cent limitation," Zaagman said.

He said he had showed the resolution to Romney and added that the governor said he felt there was a precedent for such a limitation in view of ceilings on the sales tax and local income taxes.

Romney told a news conference today that he "personally would favor a ceiling on the income tax, although 5 per cent might be a little low."

However, Zaagman said he believed passage in the House would be a "touch and go" situation.

House Democrats, who have to provide at least 18 votes to pass the resolution, were expected to oppose it, as did several Senate Democrats.

House Democratic leader William Ryan, D-Detroit, advocates a graduated state income tax and feels a 5 per cent limit would not permit enough graduation.

A resolution to allow a graduated income tax, now forbidden by the constitution, has been approved by both houses and will appear on the 1968 ballot.

Detroit's Police Dispute Goes To Fact-Finder Trio

DETROIT (AP)—The dispute which led to last month's policemen's sick-call strike and suspensions was expected to be turned over to a fact-finding panel of citizens today.

The Detroit Police Officers Association and city officials have agreed to put pay issues and other problems in the hands of a citizens committee headed by the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Episcopal bishop of Michigan, arranged a truce in the dispute.

a three-man fact-finders' panel.

Sick call-ins of policemen, ecupled with suspensions, crippled the 4,300-man force in June.

The policemen's association, an unaffiliated union, demands top police pay of $10,000 a year. The maximum now is approximately $8,500. The union also demands other concessions.

Iowa, Kansas Hit By Race Rioting

By The Associated Press

A wave of destruction—window smashing, looting and rock throwing—grew into major proportions early today in the predominantly Negro North End of Waterloo, Iowa, before police dispersed the crowds.

Several persons were injured including two Negroes and three whites cut by flying glass when rocks struck their cars.

Cause of the outbreak in the northeastern Iowa city of about 75,000 population, including some 6,000 Negroes, was not known, said police chief Robert Wright. He noted there had been minor disturbances there the previous two nights.

Dr. Warren Nash, a Negro physician, said Negro dissatisfaction in Waterloo is caused by "the usual things—housing, employment."

Riot To Steal

A new disturbance broke out Sunday in Tampa, Fla., where rioting began last month. A white helmet patrol, formed of about 150 Negro youths, manned the streets of Negro areas where the police had imposed a curfew to stop the racial violence.

A quiet night was reported today by police with no recurrence of the window smashing, looting and firebombing that had erupted early Sunday.

Tampa Mayor Nick Nuccio charged that the outbreak was not a racial matter, but was caused by "a bunch of young hoodlums trying to go and steal."

Another racial disorder was reported in Kansas City, Mo. More than a dozen arrests were reported by police in one section of Swope Park, a public recreation area on the city's east side.

The incident reportedly began with the arrest of a Negro on a charge of illegal sale of liquor in the park.

Criticize Black Power

The outlook of Negroes on the civil rights revolution is to be debated in Boston during the 58th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Criticism of the black power movement was reiterated Sunday by Roy Wilkins, executive director of the 441,000-member organization. However, he also told a news conference there will be more racial riots unless the white community does more to help Negroes with jobs, housing and economic security.

Winner Tag Big Plus In Romney's Chances

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Being a golfer as well as a presidential hopeful, Michigan Gov. George Romney listened when the state political pros told him it will take persistent practice to learn the New Hampshire course where the nation's first primary is held.

If he decides to make the Republican presidential primary tour next year, Romney promised to give his campaign clubs a workout on New Hampshire's tricky but vital course March 12.

Romney won't be alone.

Right Backs Reagan

He expects definite competition from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, an acknowledged master of New Hampshire's GOP greens, and a possible challenge by California Gov. Ronald Reagan, backed by the Granite State's substantial conservative forces.

The Michigan governor is aware that it will take a great deal of personal-approach politics to win in New Hampshire—where grass roots success depends heavily on a candidate's ability to shake hands.

There was general agreement that Romney needed more exposure.

A survey by Romney backers showed their man trailing Nixon in New Hampshire, generally because more party members know Nixon from past elections.

The talks, receptions and news conferences during Romney's four-day visit to the Lake Winnipesaukee region last week were designed to give Romney a chance to meet state Republicans and offer his views.

Winner Telling Point

Romney indicated that he thought the talks with what he termed a "cross section of New Hampshire Republican leaders" were productive and that he could win on primary day.

The major selling point for Romney was given as "he's a winner" who would stand the best chance of ousting President Johnson. The unspoken but obvious reference was to Nixon's 1960 loss in the presidential race and 1962 defeat in the California gubernatorial contest.

The more influential state Republicans declined to say publicly whether they would support Romney.

Gary Tucker's Ship Battles Viet Artillery

Seaman Apprentice Gerry L. Tucker, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Tucker of Route 1, Escanaba was a crew member aboard the heavy cruiser USS St. Paul when the ship engaged in a gun battle with enemy shore batteries off the coast of Viet Nam.

Projectiles from the St. Paul's five and eight-inch guns destroyed one of the enemy's costal emplacements and triggered a large, and several smaller, secondary explosions.

It was the second time in three days that the St. Paul had exchanged gunfire with coastal defense sites.

The St. Paul's home port is San Diego, Calif.

Conditions Good For Duck Crop

June duck conditions on North America's primary nesting areas showed a slight improvement over 1966, but the number of breeding birds is relatively unchanged from last year, the Department of the Interior reports.

Early reports from flyway biologists of the Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife indicate practically no change in the mallard breeding population, a 17 per cent increase in nesting pintails, a decrease of 9 per cent for blue-winged teal, a 7 per cent decrease for red-head ducks and a drop of 20 per cent for canvasback.

Water conditions, synonymous with duck nesting habitat, showed a slight improvement in southern Canada. Water in eastern Montana and the tri-state area (Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota) was up 15 per cent. Added to a favorable carry over of water from 1966, this general improvement throughout most of North America's prime duck raising habitat spells good brood conditions for 1967.

City's Supplier Of Pipe Struck By Teamsters

The Wittock Supply Co. of Kingsford, whose low bid of $11,477 to supply the city with water main pipe was accepted by the Escanaba City Council on Thursday, is struck by Teamster Local Union 328, it is reported by the Teamster Union.

George Dunlap, Local 328 business representative said the union has been and is picketing construction projects supplied by Wittock.

Wittock's bid was the lowest of nine received by the city to supply Escanaba with metal pipe for water main extensions. Wittock is a wholesaler of plumbing supplies and related products.

The Michigan Labor Relations Board notes that on complaint of the Teamsters the Kingsford firm is charged with certain unfair labor practices. The original charge was filed by the Union on May 18, after some of the employes went on strike, which continues in effect.

The Board has scheduled a hearing on the charges to be held in the Court House at Iron Mountain on Sept. 12.

Antlerless Deer Kill Increase Urged On State

Except for urging a woodcock season opening on Sept. 15 — two full weeks ahead of the traditional Oct. 1 start — the Michigan Conservation Department is recommending almost the same small game hunting and trapping regulations as last year for the Upper Peninsula.

The Michigan Conservation Commission will set the regulations at its meeting this Thursday and Friday at the Higgins Lake Conservation School.

Commissioners also will set deer hunting regulations. They received recommendations in this area at their meeting last month. The department biologists and deer advisory committees recommended an antlerless deer harvest of 16,790 in the Upper Peninsula, a five per cent increase over last year's quota of 16,005.

The land area where antlerless deer may be hunted would be increased one per cent by addition of that part of Houghton County north of the Portage Canal. The quota of permits would be increased 20 per cent this year over last.

Some controversy is expected to be aroused over the proposal to open the woodcock season in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Peninsula two weeks before grouse and other small game may be legally hunted. In fact, the department's field recommendations from the Upper Peninsula proposed opening only Drummond Island on Sept. 15 and the rest of the U.P. on Oct. 1, as in the past.

Department biologists, however, are plugging for the Sept. 15 opening. They maintain that this will make more of these migrating birds available to hunters.

"Michigan has the best woodcock hunting in North America and leads the nation in total harvest," the game division said, "but each year we continue to lose some of the finest hunting because we have opened our season in October."

Fishermen Catch Escaped Monkey On Kaleva Road

KALEVA (AP) — An escaped monkey named Jo Jo that was two fisherman's biggest catch last week today was back in his cage in the home of Kaleva barber Arthur Hilliard.

The rambunctious critter, who has a number of escape attempts on his record, finally made it last Sunday, breaking out of his cage in the Hilliard garage and eluding the two Hilliard children who chased him for two hours.

He was taken back into custody by Albert Grimm and his brother-in-law Donald Calhoun of Grand Rapids, who spotted him on a road near Kaleva while returning from a fishing trip.

Jo Jo ran up a tree when they approached, but Calhoun lured him back down with a piece of cheese. The monkey grabbed the cheese and ran, Grimm in hot pursuit.

Grimm and Calhoun took the monkey home with them after notifying the State Police, who put an announcement on the radio. Mrs. Hilliard went to Grand Rapids Sunday to retrieve Jo Jo.

Fire Destroys Home At Wilson

The Delta County Chapter, American Red Cross, today issued an appeal for clothing and household supplies for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roschyk, of Rte. 1, Wilson, who were burned out of their home Sunday morning.

Cause of the fire is still undetermined.

Firemen were notified by a passerby. Mr. and Mrs. Roschyk were visiting in Menominee. There were no injuries.

Recreation Center

Escanaba's Recreation Board has told City Council, which created it, repeatedly what it thinks should be done about a city recreation center. The Recreation Board, which has studied the project for years said:

Build a minimum recreation center at the Water Tower site with funds available now from the Catherine Bonifas bequest.

This seems a simple enough directive, but it has become the center of a continuing discussion in City Council. There has been opposition to the site. There has been suggestion that the center should not be minimal, but should include a swimming pool. There has been suggestion that federal money may be available to help finance the project (but not a swimming pool), so that the city could use its money to finance a swimming pool.

There has been uncertainty about this federal aid which has put the whole project, as amended to cooperate with the Community Action Agency in the plea for Department of Housing and Urban Development aid, into a package of hope and indecision.

* * *

Council has been loath to forego federal aid if it really is available and, having been told that the project is a dead duck under last year's appropriation, it is submitting another project in the next fiscal year that began July 1. The center, as proposed, would include facilities for the CAA.

Council was told that to qualify for the federal aid for the center the city would have to establish that a third of the families in the area had incomes under the $3,000-a-year poverty level.

Such a level of poverty for Escanaba strikes us as excessive. The 1960 census showed that 21 per cent of U. S. families had incomes below $3,000. In the Upper Peninsula — and it does not average an income rate as high as Escanaba's — 25 per cent of all families were in this low income category. (The U. P. rate was 18 per cent higher than the national rate.)

The Census Bureau survey for 1968 indicated a decrease to about 18.5 per cent and projected a figure to 1965 of 17.1 per cent of persons of low income

* * *

UPCAP, in an analysis of U.P. poverty, stated "If this post-census trend in the reduction of low income is valid in the Upper Peninsula, it means that the incidence of poverty for 1965 would be about 20 per cent . . . . . and still 18 per cent higher here than for the country as a whole . . . " It added that the proportion of older persons (an indication of lower income) was 10 per cent higher in the U. P. than in the nation for persons age 45 and over.

Ray LaPorte, executive director of the Community Action Agency, said that HUD did not require the eligibility for aid be established by the poverty situation of the entire community, but only for the immediate area to be served. For this reason, he said, the preschool program was placed in the Washington School because it would be handier to more low income families there than in any other school.

* * *

CAP'S study of Social Welfare's rolls showed that on a geographical basis the bulk of persons getting aid in Escanaba would be served by the proposed recreation center, which is nearest to an area between N. 14th St. and 23rd St., from Ludington north. Thirty one and a half per cent of persons in this area are getting categorical relief of some kind. It has more retirees than the rest of the community and a goodly percentage of the city's 1,826 persons on social security drawing an average of $80 a month.

LaPorte said that HUD permitted use of the 1960 census data showing 25 per cent below poverty level and declared "We won't be stretching it to say that the immediate area is closer to low income levels than Club 314," the city's present recreation center.

* * *

If the federal government is giving money for such facilities, we have two reactions:

1. No wonder our taxes are so high.

2. We're getting, by government formula, funds originally intended to care for metropolitan poverty.

The quest of such funds encourages such government programs and tax bites, the neglect of them means that we pay for them and others get them. We have a choice: Be high principled and self-sufficient and without a municipal swimming pool, or cooperative, highly taxed and swimming in February.

The Press supports the policy of the Recreation Board, as the proper agency for guidance in this matter and most informed group on the issue. If City Council is going to appoint advisory groups it had better be advised by them.

Ann Landers

Youth Is Hooked On Soap Opera Habit

Dear Ann Landers: Our son (212 pounds) was a weight lifter in high school and captain of the wrestling team. He is now engaged to a beautiful girl and seems quite happy. His grades are excellent and he has plenty of friends.

The problem is that the boy is hooked on soap operas. His split program at school makes it possible for him to stay at home most of the day.

He starts with Love of Life, followed by Secret Storm, Guiding Light, As The World Turns, Doctors, General Hospital and Edge of Night. He did not pick up this habit from me as the only soap opera I watch is Edge of Night. Incidentally, he doesn't try to conceal his mania from his friends. I've heard him brag that he hasn't missed As The World Turns in four years.

Do you think something is wrong with him? I have already ruled out the possibility that he watches all this TV stuff to compensate for a dull life, because his life is pretty interesting. What is your theory? — NOT WORRIED BUT CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: Maybe YOU think his life is interesting, but obviously he doesn't think it can compare with Secret Storm, Guiding Light and the rest. A boy his age who is so fascinated by fantasy that he spends several hours every day as an observer needs to become more involved with the real world — as a participant.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this before school starts in the fall. I am a girl 17 and will be a junior when school starts. I play the cello and do it well. I held the first chair for two years. Then this cute new girl came to town and got my chair and I was demoted.

The new girl is a mediocre cellist and has absolutely no vibrato. She has taken lessons for only two years. I have studied for six years. It is a well known fact that this girl got my chair because her father is a friend of the director. She is also good looking. My father is a plumber and I am not much to look at. I am a good cellist, however, and I want my seat back. Any suggestions? — PLUMBER'S DAUGHTER

Dear Daughter: Keep practicing, Toots — especially your vibrato. When it becomes obvious to one and all that you are undeniably the superior cellist, the director will just have to give the chair to you. Class tells.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I am just about your age, so please don't think this criticism comes from a stuffy old lady. I was brought up by a mother who had elegant manners. She taught me it was a breach of etiquette to apply makeup at the table when dining out.

I attended a banquet last evening and you were the speaker. I was appalled when I saw you dig into your handbag and pull out a mirror and lipstick. There, in the presence of 1,000 people you powdered your nose and proceeded to paint your lips.

Could it be that I was seeing things? Set me straight. — SHOCKED

Dear Shocked: You are straight. The thing you saw was I. Good manners are simply common sense. Often the ladies room is a half a block from the speaker's table. It is more sensible for a woman to dab on a little powder and apply lipstick (which takes all of 10 seconds) than to hike to the ladies room or face an audience with a shiny nose and no lips.

Night Fishing Extends Fun

By LEE SMITS

The man who rents boats and sells minnows tells you: "You should have been here last week. Everybody caught their limits and they let go all but the biggest ones. Yep, you ought to have been here last week."

You got up in the dark before dawn. You tried every lure in your tackle box, every trick you knew and then, after the long hot day, you learn it was the wrong week!

Now, maybe you would have done better to approach this lake in the afternoon prepared to fish all night. It is well to explore by daylight in preparation for night fishing.

Maybe moonlight helps. There are tables showing just how phases of the moon affect the appetite of various fish. There is no report at hand on the effectiveness of these tables. We do know that some fish feed more actively at night than in the daytime. Northern pike prowl the shallows; big mouth bass hunt their prey in water barely deep enough to cover their backs.

* * *

The night-angler starts out with casting or spinning a weedless lure, delivered, if feasible, on the bank or in the rushes and then flipped into the water where a churning strike can be hoped for. Then, with a stout rod and heavy-test line, the fish has to be horsed clear of obstacles. (Of course there are perfectionists who fly-cast for lake fish after dark, but for the present they are out of our class.)

Having fished likely stretches of shoreline, the night angler shifts to another set of tactics. He may troll off the edge of the drop-off. If he has northern pike in mind, a big lure is in order. On a calm night it pays to try surface trolling, slow and jerky. It is doubtful that a hungry fish identifies its prey with any precision. We do know that trout can be selective about the particular species of fly they're feeding on, but if a corncob were equipped with hooks and towed across calm water a hungry pike wouldn't care whether it was duckling or muskrat, bullfrog or water snake. All that matters is that the thing acts alive and isn't too big to be swallowed.

* * *

There are other ways to get fishing action on a summer night. A secretive friend says that he knows a cove at one end of an Upper Peninsula lake where after dark, with night-crawler bait, every cast produces a big-mouth bass. So he says.

There are those who insist that phosphorescent lures are essential for night fishing and they tell you how to revive the glow by hanging a dim lure on a car headlight. And there are now on the market lures with sound-effects; clickings and gurglings that are believed to excite big fish. For pike and muskie the duckling lure is highly regarded, especially at night, trolled on calm water.

* * *

There is one sure-fire form of night-fishing. In still water with a mud bottom, there are probably bullheads, of which Michigan has two prominent species, black and brown, equally delicious. No fish is more cooperative. The bullhead is a nocturnal feeder. His whiskers are a kind of radar, guiding him to food. It is well to use a large hook and remove the barb. A bullhead hangs on. Care must be taken in handling a bullhead, alive or dead, because of sharp spines that are coated with an irritating secretion. A bullhead is the easiest fish to clean. Drive a nail through a section of plank, impale the bullhead through the throat, cut through the skin back of the gills and strip off with pliers.

Anyone with a lakeside cottage can insure a bountiful and constant supply by baiting a suitable spot with table scraps, fish innards or refuse and then, in the still of the evening, lower a barbless hook draped with worms and harvest enough bullheads for a big Sunday breakfast.

Drugs? Yes And No

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A systematic poll of graduate and undergraduate students at one of the top dozen American colleges indicates that the use of drugs on campuses may be more widespread than heretofore imagined.

The school has very high academic standards.

The poll showed that 20 per cent of the undergraduate students and 8 per cent of the graduate students had used marijuana at some time. Apparently, about half of these undergraduates were "current users," having used the drug within seven days before the poll.

The poll was accomplished by anonymous questionnaires. Ninety per cent of the undergraduate and graduate student body answered.

Approximately a fifth of the undergraduate students expect to use marijuana in the future —at least once or twice.

Though only 9 per cent of the undergraduates say they have used LSD in the past (and only 1.1 per cent are using LSD at present), 12 per cent expect to use LSD some time or other in the future.

In their answers to the questionnaires, roughly four-fifths of the undergraduate students said they favored some legal way by which people could use marijuana. Some favored open sale. Some favored controls of various types.

Most students favored tight controls for LSD. About half thought it should only be available for genuine research.

On their questionnaires, some students told why they use dope.

One blamed boredom "pot is sort of like the flicks—you ask yourself what to do tonight . . . if there isn't anything particularly exciting, you get stoned."

Some said their experiences were "pleasant, like alcohol."

The majority—the nonusers —also commented.

Said one: "My moral code requires that I maintain the maximum possible control over my mind and senses. Taking drugs . . . has the effect of removing that control. It is therefore morally wrong for me to use these drugs."

Some called drugs a "crutch." Others called drug use "debasing."

One asked: "Can actual happiness be found in a pill . . .? Not by retreating into a mental shell but by active living and love for our fellow man will a person feel complete and satisfied."

Remember that most of the users, though a minority in this college, were among the top students in their high school classes, or they would not have been admitted to this particular school.

A study of the answers of the drug users seems to indicate that we in society have given them no strong standards on which to base their lives.

Jim: "John Crawford came out of retirement to win the Eastern Knockout team game with you, Tobias Stone, Alan Messer and Larry Rosler. How did he play after having been a social player for three years?"

Oswald: "He was quite rusty in the first set of boards but by the time the second set came around he was right back in form except that he played the dummy a trifle slower than he used to. On the other hand his technique was perfect. We picked up 720 points worth 13 International Match points on this hand when the opposing South failed to use this correct technique."

Jim: "It is easy enough to go down with the South hand. Assuming that diamonds are opened and continued, South ruffs the third diamond and plays out the ace and king of trumps. The trumps don't break and, with the heart finesse losing, South is down one."

Oswald: "That's just the way the hand was played against us but Johnny used the winning techniques. He ruffed the third diamond, played out the high clubs, cashed his ace of trumps, led a small trump and finessed dummy's jack. Then he drew the last trump and led hearts. When the queen failed to drop he conceded a heart trick."

Jim: "In case some of our readers will just say that Johnny was lucky and that he took the wrong percentage play when he tried a finesse rather than a drop with nine trumps, they should study the hand carefully."

Oswald: "In that case, they will see that when Johnny took the trump finesse he didn't really care if the finesse won or lost. As far as his contract was concerned he could lose the finesse but could not lose the contract after both opponents followed to the first trump lead."

Jim: "If East held the queen of trumps he would have been on lead and forced to give John a ruff and discard or lead away from the queen of hearts."

The Dead Come Home, Ontonagon Boys Too

By JOHN BARBOUR

ONTONAGON, Mich. (AP) — This is a quiet town, a long way from Vietnam.

It is a town where children grow free to wander woods and build campfires on the Lake Superior shore, where people know each other's license plates and family troubles and where the weekly newspaper prints personal notes of thanks on the front page. It is a long way from Vietnam.

But on a cold night in April, Vietnam came to Ontonagon with brutal swiftness. A military car made two stops. A dutiful hand knocked softly on two doors. The words were brief, the facts few.

It had happened the day before on the other side of the world. In one terrible moment enemy automatic weapons fire killed Ernest Mack Skinner, 22, and William Raymond Lundberg, 20.

They are only names in the long list of American dead in Vietnam that now totals over 10,000. But in this town of 2,500 where people pride themselves on knowing most everyone, they were much more than names. They were a polite boy and a laughing child, an ambitious teen-ager and a good friend.

Word Spreads Quickly

They were intimate parts of people's lives: Ernie, whose parents died in a plane crash when he was 2, whose high spirits led him through the troubles of growing up to become a young man of drive and promise. Billy, whose father died when he was 15, whose quietness was a puzzle to some, and a gentleness to others, whose first thought was always the welfare of a friend.

Word of their deaths, like ripples on a darkened pond, spread through the town, from family to family, from the mill to Stubb's Bar, by telephone and hushed word of mouth, ending always in frustrated, unbelieving silence.

"Ontonagon only has 2,500 people, and it's lost three," said Irene Wolfe, editor of the weekly Herald. "We have the feeling it isn't over yet."

The first Vietnam death came last June. Kenneth Somero, 24, a graduate of Ontonagon High School, was on a weekend pass. He was shot by a sniper. "My God," said one townswoman, "what kind of a war is it? You can't tell your friends from your enemies."

It was a week between the first word that Billy and Ernie had been killed, and the arrival of their bodies in Ontonagon. In the stunned silence of that week, most of the town could not come to grips with the reality.

She Remembered

Nancy Kulppi, who lives in Marquette now, but who grew up with Ernie Skinner, broke down when she heard the news. She remembered him as a talkative, laughing child with dark flashing eyes. In all sincerity he gave her a present once, wrapped in an old box. It was a dead frog he had found in the road. He was only 4 then. She was 6, but she remembered.

And she remembered the silly, inconsequential things that made up their childhood together, making walkie-talkies with embroidery thread snitched from her mother, playing leapfrog over the tombstones in the cemetery, searching out the home of a favorite teacher and being too afraid to knock on the door, bicycling into town for the first time and getting lost in the backstreets of its smallness, taking forbidden swims in the lake, eating paid-for watermelon and stolen corn on the cob, camping overnight in the woods and making coffee with swamp water, and having to throw it out because it was full of frog's eggs.

When Nancy saw him in the open casket for the last time she thought, "He looked older and so tired," and she cried again. "I guess it was knowing my childhood was over," she said.

Death Hits Hard

Donald Roehm, 22, was working at the paper mill when he got word Billy Lundberg was dead. It hit him hard. He owed his job to Billy who had stepped aside in the mill's seniority ranks and took a laboring job in those months before he was drafted to let Donnie have the better job as paper tester Billy had been in line for.

When he left work, Donnie went to the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall where his father tends bar. It was there he heard about Ernie who had been his best friend all through high school. In Donnie's words, he could not say, nor do a thing.

"The only thing I remember was disbelief," Donnie said later, "until they brought the caskets home and I saw it was true with my own eyes."

Remembering Ernie, Donnie looked far away. "He loved life so much, and he knew how to live it," he said, "and something like this has to happen before he had a chance."

After graduation, Ernie left town to learn the trade of meatcutting and to work in supermarkets in Illinois. Donnie became close then to Billy Lundberg, a quiet young boy a year behind Donnie and Ernie in school.

Float Wins Prize

Once, for a Labor Day parade, they built a float, a mechanized hand of a monster, called "The Thing." It won a first prize.

"Billy was the type of kid you really had to get to know," Donnie said softly. "In a crowd of guys, he didn't say much. He wasn't full of wisecracks. He didn't say much around grown-ups either. He was always just polite."

High school Principal James Webber knew both boys, and he heard the numbing news at home. "I came here in 1954," he said slowly. "I had them in school for seven years."

Sitting in his crowded school office behind his paper-stacked desk, he thought back to the two boys.

"I probably knew Ernie better than Billy," he said. "He was a real spirited boy, and there were a lot of times I had him in the office here to talk turkey to him. But he was a good boy, too. He responded well, and grew into a responsible young man.

"In fact, Ernie was a good friend of mine. At least, I felt so. He used to come here whenever he was back in town, and we'd talk about his job, and how he was getting along. Once he was worried about some people who worked for him, but weren't doing their jobs. He felt he had to fire them in loyalty to his employer, but he didn't want to do it. And he was concerned about his friends here, that they weren't doing as much with their lives as they should. He was determined he was going to."

Raised By Grandparents

Ernie was raised by his grandparents. He called them mother and father, but they were older than most mothers and fathers. His grandmother, Fay Noble, was the only white-haired member of the Kindergarten Mother's Club.

She and her husband who died in 1959 had one ambition, to see Ernie and his younger sister, Reba, graduate from high school. Mrs. Noble and Reba still live in the white frame home west of town, where Ernie grew up. Reba's husband, Tom, was brought home from duty in Thailand for Ernie's funeral.

Ernie worked all through high school, first Wagner's Restaurant, then at the IGA Foodliner where owner Henry Hoefferle remembers his ambition and his hard work.

"We felt especially bad about it because he worked with us, and we knew what he was like," Hoefferle said standing at the check-out counter. "And when you lose two boys from a town as little as this — that's sadness."

Draped In Black

At the local chapter of the United Papermakers & Paperworkers Union, where Billy belonged, they draped the charter in black. And they remembered things about him, his selflessness, and how he lent money to a buddy to go to college even though he wasn't going himself.

Billy's mother, Mrs. Robert Letson, still can't bear to talk about her son's death. She has Billy's younger brother and sister, Freddie and Nyra, at home as well as two children from her present marriage. Billy's sister Linda was injured in an auto accident, coming to spend Mother's Day at home. In a town where not many people move away, Billy's family had lived here only 10 years. They came from Green Bay, Wis., in 1957.

The Rev. David J. Musail, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church where Billy's family attended, recalled the disbelief that spread through the town.

"It isn't like World War II, when everyone was involved in some way," he said. "This war seemed so distant until something like this brought it home."

"But there are men in this town who have been in the services, who have seen things like this happen before," he said. "Maybe they wonder if there is as good a reason to fight now as when they fought. But, above it, they have a sense of national pride and duty."

Letter Published

The weekly Herald published again a letter it had printed three months earlier from a soldier in Vietnam. The writer had requested his name withheld. It was addressed to the people of Ontonagon, and said:

"The last couple of weeks I have seen notes in the paper about bringing our boys home.

"No man wants to leave his home and go to war, but the great leaders of our country think we have to, to keep peace in our country. Every man that is here would like to be home, but we know we have to be here, and while we are here we ar going to do our best to fight, and,die, if we must, to keep our country free.

"We do not ask much of the people at home, just a little support will make it a lot easier, to know the people at home are pulling for us. We also feel we are winning the war, and we have a right to be here. Please do not protest the war."

This time the letter was signed, "Ernie Skinner."

Recalls Little Boy

When the news of the deaths spread through the town, one old man, his eyes glistening in the sun, leaned across the breakfast room table in the home he built and remembered the little boy "I bounced on my knee." Another old man who knew one of the boys well broke into uncontrollable tears at the funeral home and had to be helped outside.

One teacher found a desk in her classroom with the name "Ernie Skinner" carved in it, and another found some old test papers the boys had done in school. One man remembered how Ernie on his last visit home had confided that someday he wanted to put a proper marker on his parents' grave in Oregon.

These were the things the townspeople remembered, quietly, each in his own way. The bodies came home separately. A military guard of honor accompanied them. Flowers were sent from Vietnam, from the men of Company B, 4th Battalion, 23rd Regiment, 25th Infantry Division, the final buddies of Ernie and Billy.

All the businesses in town closed in their honor. The veterans without any formal organization quickly posted an honor guard for each boy. The men stood short hours, passing on and wearing one tired VFW hat whether they were members or not.

Billy and Ernie died while on patrol with their company in the heavily forested area near Cu Chi, some 25 miles northwest of Saigon. They came under heavy fire from Viet Cong guerrillas. One sergeant saw three of the enemy running into the underbrush and gave chase. He didn't come back.

Few Feet Apart

Sgt. Ernie Skinner started out to look for him. He had moved barely 15 yards when a burst of enemy automatic weapons fire cut him down. Cpl. Billy Lundberg saw him get hit, leaped from his position and firing his 25-pound, M60 submachine gun, charged toward the enemy fire.

Another burst from the concealed enemy positions hit Billy Lundberg and he slumped to the ground. When the battle was over, Billy and Ernie were found in the brush only a few feet apart.

Billy Lundberg was awarded the Silver Star, and Ernie Skinner the Bronze Star, both posthumously.

They were brought back to be buried. And Nancy Kulppi remembered how she and Ernie had run home from the cemetery one night, frightened by a ghostly clinking noise in the wind. The next day they had laughed when they found it was only the flag clips blowing against the pole. Now Ernie is buried barely 15 feet from the same flagpole in the same cemetery.

And a man who knew Billy, and how close he had been to his father, remembered how hurt Billy had been when his dad died. And now Billy lies by his father's side in another cemetery in another town.

Eisenhower Lock Decay Threatens Seaway Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Failure to repair Eisenhower Lock in the U.S. portion of the St. Lawrence Seaway could force an indefinite closing of the entire 2,342-mile Great Lakes-to-the-Atlantic system.

The possibility was reported to Congress by Joseph H. McCann, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., the government agency which administers and maintains the American section of the waterway, built in cooperation with Canada.

McCann's warning that the lock must be repaired—over a five-year period at an estimated total cost of $13 million—was given to a House Appropriations subcommittee. His testimony was made public Sunday by the group.

McCann said abnormal deterioration of the lock's concrete was first noted in 1964. He said repairs, to the extent practicable, were made during the nonnavigation winter seasons last year and the year before.

He said there is no danger to navigation this year because of the condition of the lock, constructed in 1959 at a cost of more than $21 million. It is located near Massena, N.Y.

But the repair work must be started this year, as soon as the seaway is shut down for the winter, McCann said. He estimated the first year's cost at $3.6 million.

WHAT IS IT? Answer: A fluting iron that ironed the "wrinkles" in so the ladies' ruffled collars kept that stand-out look. It was hot work, however, keeping the iron sizzling hot on an old-fashioned wood stove.

140-Pound Loaf Of Italina Bread Feeds Thousands

DETROIT (AP) — What is 12 feet long, as thick around the middle as an elephant's leg and weighs 140 pounds?

At the 5th annual Italian Festival Sunday at the Michigan State Fairgrounds, it was a loaf of Italian bread. The baker estimated it produced 34,017 slices.

"Ah, que bene," was the common sigh of those who witnessed its delivery.

"Gees, it's heavy," said a bearded Wayne State University student as he tried to show off his muscle power.

A half dozen lovely young ladies came to his assistance and carried the loaf to the carving table.

It was enough for the several thousand persons who flocked to chomp on "trippa" while they watched the amusement and entertainment.

Mononucleosis Is Disabler In Youth

It used to be known as the "kissing disease," until somebody discovered that you could catch it without kissing anybody. Faced with this negative outlook, a doctor with a true instinct for research decided to conduct a study at West Point. Presently he reported that "cadets who came down with mononucleosis had usually been kissing a girl who was infected with the disease."

"By kissing," he added, "I don't mean a peck on the cheek but kissing of more than filial intensity." (After all, if you must get sick . . .)

The problem of mononucleosis, actually, isn't all fun and osculation by any means. It's a disease that incapacitates young people for extended periods with severe sore throat, glandular swelling, general weakness, sometimes jaundice, often mental and emotional depression. One researcher, Dr. Kenneth Rose, has called it "the single most important disabling disease of the young adult." And it seems to be on the increase.

Mononucleosis is full of mysteries. Despite general agreement that it's contagious, the guilty organism so far hasn't been positively identified. And nobody has the answer to another question: why are some people resistant to the disease while others are vulnerable?

Treatment consists of corticosteroid drugs, tender loving care (no kisses, please), and assurances to the patient that, despite all his doubts, he's going to get well. The disease, in fact, is almost never fatal. Hospitalization is seldom needed, but a doctor definitely is.

Graham In Yugoslavia, Calls Crusade Success

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Billy Graham regards his first crusade to a Communist country as a success although only about 2,000 persons turned out for each of his three meetings in Yugoslavia.

"Whenever the Gospel is preached — to one person, or a thousand or a million — that is a success," said the American evangelist before leaving by train Sunday night for Munich and the United States.

"Just the fact that he was able to come, that he was here with us, was a success in itself," said Dr. Jozip Horak, a Baptist leader who was Graham's host.

Arriving Friday in Zagreb, the tall, tanned American preached Saturday night at a Lutheran church and twice on Sunday, in a morning downpour and at dusk, on the soccer field of a Roman Catholic seminary.

There are only about 200,000 Protestants in this Marxist nation of Orthodox and Roman Catholic tradition whose government now professes atheism. Yugoslavia's constitution assures religious freedom and the Communist regime gives all religious minimal tolerance but no encouragement.

Graham made clear at a news conference Saturday that he would not go into political issues. Never once did he mention communism or allude to life under a totalitarian regime. He encouraged his listeners, largely farmers and villagers brought by bus from distant points in the countryside, to show their Christianity and be active in their churches. He said that Christ wanted his believers to obey civil authority.

Graham regarded his visit as a test for future trips farther east into Communist Europe.

He said he believed in the people-to-people contact idea elaborated by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

"It's in the area of faith in God that we have something in common," he told a newsman.

Graham said he is due Wednesday at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., for a five-day stay for removal of an abcess of the upper jaw.

Plane Crashes; Pilot Is Killed

MARQUETTE — A 32-year-old Canadian was killed Sunday when his single-engine, light plane crashed and burned in a wooded area near here in a dense fog.

State Police said the Cessna 206 piloted by William Mathew Dedrick of Winnipeg, Man., crashed about two miles south of U.S. 41 and M 28.

Residents in the Harvey area near here heard and saw the plane flying through heavy fog at tree-top level. A few moments later the plane crashed.

Dedrick, a sales manager for Cessna, was flying the plane from Port Huron and his flight plan was to bring him to Marquette for a landing. He was then scheduled to proceed to Winnipeg.

Heavy fog shrouded the whole area at the time of the crash. There was no report of communications between Dedrick and the airport here in advance of the accident.

Earhart Mystery Still Unsolved

NEWTON, Kan. (AP)—Aviatrix Ann Pellegreno, whose globe-circling flight simulated that taken by Amelia Earhart 30 years ago, said Sunday no theories on her predecessor's mysterious disappearance have been discarded.

But Mrs. Pellegreno told a Newton audience that bad weather may have been a factor on the ill-fated flight.

Mrs. Pellegreno completed her 28-day flight around the world in Oakland, Calif., Friday, and flew on to Newton for Sunday's special celebration in her honor.

School Board To Reorganize

The Escanaba Area Board of Education will welcome two new members at its annual reorganization meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the school administration building.

Richard L. Hanson of Wells and Albin S. Pearson Jr. of Escanaba were elected at the annual school election last month and will be seated for their first meetings.

The Board will also elect officers for 1967-68 and handle other organizational matters before proceeding into the agenda for its regular meeting.

Five items are listed for action, according to the agenda released today by Supt. Luther M. Barrett, including payment of accounts, hiring of new teachers and establishment of a new teacher employment policy.

The board will consider rescinding policy on hiring of teachers which requires that any graduate from Escanaba schools teach at least two years in other school systems before being employed in Escanaba.

Barrett also listed eight other items for discussion, among them the 1967-68 budget.

Irvin Harbath, Bay View Location, reported that a water pump had been taken from his property some time since July 6. Investigation is continuing.

A vacant dwelling on County Road J-1 in Ensign Township, Delta County was found entered in the weekend. The property is in an estate and the return of the administrator, John Gustafson, was awaited to determine if anything was missing.

Hannibal Cave Hunt Continues

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—Three boys from Hannibal have now been missing exactly two months.

Yet the search goes on—still checking out a few last passageways in Murphy's Cave on the south side of town.

Mrs. Mike Hoag, mother of 11-year-old Billy and 14 - year - old Joey, says "there's just as much chance that they're alive as dead." She plans to have enlargements made of their photographs for distribution throughout the country.

But the mother of 14-year-old Craig Dowell has given up hope for their safe return. She said she fears the boys are lost somewhere in the caves.

Hannibal Mayor Harry Musgrove said the search of the caves has been so thorough that "it's hard to believe they are there."

Robbery, Rape Trial Scheduled At Menominee

MENOMINEE — Henry C. Diquette, 35, of Worchester, Mass., who was arrested last month after a manhunt at Cedar River, was scheduled to go on trial today before Judge Ernest Brown in Circuit Court.

Diquette, alias Charles Fullem, was charged with robbery and rape and was bound over for trial after a preliminary hearing in Justice Court.

Arlene Watson, 28, of Des Moines, Iowa, was released after the preliminary hearing when Prosecutor Russell Bradley said testimony at the hearing didn't support charges against her.

Diquette is charged with robbing a 62-year-old Cedar River man and raping his 65-year-old companion.

Lurleen Having Surgery Today

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama entered surgery this morning for an exploratory operation for a malignant tumor.

Doctors were to determine the extent of malignancy and, if possible, to remove the tumor from the 40-year-old state executive in an operation expected to last several hours.

Doctors said they hoped to be able to tell what the operation revealed when a medical bulletin is issued at 3 p. m.

The malignancy, first detected three weeks ago by doctors in Montgomery, Ala., was confirmed Sunday by specialists at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.

It is Mrs. Wallace's second battle with cancer in 18 months. She underwent surgery in January 1966 for removal of a cancer of the uterus. When she returned to the hospital for a checkup last month, she was found to have cancer again.

Dr. R. Lee Cark, director and chief surgeon at Anderson Hospital, said in a bulletin Sunday that members of his staff "concur with the Alabama physicians that the governor has a malignant condition" again.

Clark said, "there is a tumor in the lower abdomen."

Mrs. Wallace, mother of four children, remained in good spirits. Clark expressed admiration for her "fortitude and forthright approach" to the illness.

While the medical men were concluding their pre-surgical diagnosis, Mrs. Wallace chatted cheerfully with her husband, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, and their eldest daughter, Mrs. James Parsons.

Occasionally the governor walked across the hall to a reception room to read some of the hundreds of letters and telegrams received since her arrival last Tuesday.

Briefly Told

The July meeting of the Silver Spur Saddle Club will be held at the Mosier Community Club at Danforth at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Plans for the July 30 Horse Show at High Country located in West Gladstone will be finalized.

A teenage dance featuring Jack and the Gutwagon Gang will be held at the Teamster's Hall from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Passenger traffic at the Escanaba airport in June totaled 1487, it is reported by City Manager George Harvey. Four flights were cancelled because of adverse weather. There were an additional 80 transient passengers, the report shows.

The Escanaba Lions Club will hold a golf and dinner meeting tonight at Highland Golf Clug, with golf starting at the pleasure of members, who will make their own foursomes, and dinner at 7:30.

Escanaba police have issued traffic court summonses to Jon D. Marrier, Racine, speeding; Mary A. Viau, Escanaba Mounted Rte., failing to report a property damage accident; and Ernest E. Johnson, 1510 N. 11th St., speeding.

A misunderstanding resulted in a search for a six-year-old child in Escanaba Sunday night. Mrs. Clyde Nyquist reported to police that Dawn LaBelle, one of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel LaBelle of 718 S. 16th St., was missing. About 10:15 p.m. police were informed that the child was not lost and had been with its parents.

Susan Jones, 15, of 1504 S. 18th St., who suffered a head injury when she fell from her bicycle in Ludington Park Sunday evening, is reported in good condition at St. Francis Hospital today. She lapsed into unconsciousness and was taken to the hospital by police.

The Clark Service station on N. 21st St. apparently was not entered Saturday night, although thieves broke glass in a window on the west side and a plate glass in the front door, it is reported by Escanaba police.

Death Plot Laid To Go-Go Dancer

DETROIT (AP)—The shapely blonde Detroit go-go girl arrested with four others for plotting to kill her estranged husband apparently did it because of a romance with another of the alleged plotters, says a State Police detective.

"There was nothing to be gained financially from his death," said Detective Lt. Chris Schwartzendruber, head of the rackets squad that broke up the alleged plot.

The dancer, Mrs. Laurie Wright, 19, and Daniel M. Duffy, 23, Duffy's wife, Patricia, 20, Patrick R. McNamara, 22, and Nicholas F. Gueli Jr., 41, all of the Detroit area, were arrested Friday night and charged with conspiracy to commit murder.

They are being held in lieu of $50,000 bond each in the Oakland County jail in Pontiac.

A preliminary hearing on the case is set for next Friday afternoon.

State Police say they broke up the alleged plot after Mrs. Wright hired Detective John Aird, posing as a professional gunman, to murder her husband, Leonard, 20.

Schwartzendruber said Mrs. Wright, who works off and on as a scantily clad go-go dancer at a Detroit bar, was supposed to make a $2,000 down payment on the murder at a Friday night meeting with Aird.

Instead, Schwartzendruber said, she gave him a pistol. That night she and the other four were arrested.

Aird was brought into the plot Wednesday after an unidentified tipster said the five wanted the dancer's husband killed, says Schwartzendruber. He was offered $2,000 for the job.

The Wrights have a five-month-old child, now being cared for in a foster home.

New Tax Yield Is $321 Million

LANSING (AP) — Payers of Michigan's new income taxes are expected to yield the state $209 million in the new fiscal year — and smokers, drinkers and gamblers are counted on to provide another $112 million.

The House Appropriations Committee estimates general fund revenues for the year which began July 1 will be $1,106,909,937—just enough to balance the anticipated $1.1 billion state general fund budget.

The committee predicts the 2.6 per cent personal state income tax, which takes effect Oct. 1, will yield $170 million in this fiscal year, with $9 million of it being returned to local units of government.

The 5.6 per cent corporate income tax is expected to bring in $46 million and the yield of the 7 per cent levy on financial institutions is pegged at $2 million.

State cigarette taxes are expected to produce $58.35 million this year, while levies on beer and wine will bring in a predicted $39.57 million and taxes on horse racing an anticipated $13.87 million.

UN Will Send Military Group To Clash Area

Truce Organization in Palestine.

Israel Will Agree

An authoritative Israeli source said Israel would agree to cease-fire observers but not to revival of the truce supervisory mission which supervised the woking of the 1949 armistice agreements. Israel contends the June war wiped out that truce.

Israeli newspapers reported that Egyptian MIG21 jet fighters patrolled the canal's west bank Sunday and that Israeli troops observed Egyptian forces strengthening positions about a mile from the Israeli outpost of Ras El'ish, eight miles south of the canal's north entrance.

Saturday's fighting and clashes the previous weekend were near Ras El'ish and El Qantara, about 10 miles to the south, on the east bank. Israeli jets Saturday shot down one of the MIG21s supplied to Egypt by the Soviet Union. The dogfight was over Port Fuad, at the canal entrance.

Arabs Hold Aloof

AP correspondent David Lancashire reported from Beirut, Lebanon, that most of the Arab governments are still doing nothing to restore their economy or face postwar problems one month after the war ended.

No Arab government has conceded Israel's right to exist. None has voiced any intention of negotiating with the Jewish state to regain occupied lands.

The oil boycott is causing cracks in the Arabs' brief wartime unity.

Cruiser Burns; 4 Saved After 18-Hours Adrift

CHICAGO (AP) — Yachtsman Paul Brown of Grand Rapids, Mich., and his sloop Mitena rescued four Chicago men from a dinghy on Lake Michigan Sunday after the four abandoned their burning cabin cruiser.

Brown, 35, and the Mitena, a veteran of Great Lakes yacht races, came upon the four stranded men about 25 miles northeast of Chicago.

The men had spent 18 chilly hours adrift in the dinghy.

Restaurateur Harold Seltzer, 50, his son, Steven, 20, and two others had been the subjects of an extensive search by numerous Coast Guard and private vessels.

The other passengers on the craft were Bert L. Miner, 50, a lawyer, and Abe Paulson, 41, a photographer.

Seltzer is the owner of the restaurant, "That Steak Joynt," in Chicago's Old Town.

Seltzer's boat, "Miss Steak Joynt," left South Haven, Mich., Saturday afternoon bound for Chicago. Officials at South Haven said radio contact with the 39-foot cruiser was last made at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. That call reported engine trouble.

Seltzer said the craft's radio then went dead and fire was discovered in the boat's forward bilge compartment.

As the four men crowded into the two-man dinghy, the $40,000 pleasure craft "went up like a Roman candle," Seltzer said.

Three Hurt As Autos Collide

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in the collision of two automobiles at 12th Ave. N. and N. 21st St. Saturday at 8:35 p.m., city police report.

John C. Edgar, 16, of 509 S. 15th St., suffered a bruised right elbow and his passenger, James Anderson, 16, of 528 S. 9th St., cuts and abrasions.

Gerald J. Groos, Gladstone Rte. I, the other driver, escaped injury, but his passenger, Jetty Groos, complained of pain. They were treated at St. Francis Hospital and released.

Assault

Words exchanged in Larry's Bar, Kipling, led to an altercation outside the bar at 9:46 p.m. Sunday, State Police report. They said their investigation indicated that Thomas P. Groos, Route 1, Gladstone, was struck by Wayne D. Smoot of 614 Dakota Ave., Gladstone, knocked down and cut on the head. State Police are continuing their investigation.

Possession

Michael Tryant, 19, of Route 1, Escanaba, was charged by State Police Saturday with being a minor in possession of beer. The alleged offense was in May.

Spurrier didn't find a target, but gained 12 yards running on the play. Iron Mountain Falls In Final

It was on to Harper Woods near Detroit today for the Escanaba Babe Ruth League All-Star team.

Escanaba won the Upper Peninsula championship Sunday with a 5-1 victory over Iron Mountain No. 1 behind the three-hit pitching of Allen Larson and the extra-base hitting of Doug Howard.

Howard, who limited Ironwood to three hits Saturday in pitching a 13-1 Escanaba triumph in the semifinal round, drove in three runs Sunday with a two-run homer in the first and a long double in the third to give Larson all the runs he needed.

Howard Homers

Although the tournament schedule has not been announced at Harper Woods, Escanaba officials expected to draw a first-round bye as the team with the farthest distance to travel and to make their first start in the double-elimination tourney next Saturday. The state tournament will continue through Sunday, July 23.

The winner will advance to the Ohio Valley Regional tournament at Anderson, Ind.

Escanaba took the lead in the championship game Sunday in the first inning when Larson walked with two outs. Howard took two pitches, then ripped a curve ball 300 feet over the left-center field fence for a 2-0 advantage.

Iron Mountain scored its lone run in the second inning when pitcher John Pucci scored from first base on a wild throw but Howard's two-bagger in the third with Larson again aboard on a walk restored Escanaba's two-run lead.

Singles by Bill Baum and Steve Vanlerberghe coupled with three Iron Mountain errors gave Escanaba its final two runs.

Defense Shines

Larson, who also pitched Escanaba's opening victory Friday over Iron Mountain's second entry, was aided in the title game by sparkling defensive play, particularly by Jack Winters in right field. Winters made two fine catches to stop Iron Mountain.

Larson struck out six and walked only three. Pucci went the distance for Iron Mountain, giving up five hits, walking three and striking out six.

Saturday, Escanaba's 11-hit attack swamped Ironwood. Bob Stacey had three hits and Bruce Irving and Vanlerberghe each two to pace the winners. Howard struck out nine while walking only one in his route-going mound performance.

Iron Mountain No. 1 advanced to the finals with a 10-5 triumph over Calumet.

Feller Captures Tri-Club Crown

Don Feller, former Upper Peninsula Men's golf champion, rammed in a seven-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole of a playoff with Pete Peterson of Gladstone to win the Tri-Club golf tournament Sunday on his home Country Club course.

Peterson had forced the playoff by sinking a treacherous downhill putt on the final hole of the 27-hole tournament, giving him an even-par 36 for the final nine holes and a tie at 113 with Feller.

Feller put together nines of 39-35-39, while Peterson had 40-37-36.

Phil Legault of Gladstone and Jim Douglas of Highland tied for third with scores of 115.

Defending champion Jerry Martin of Highland, who suffered six penalty strokes in a middle nine of 42, finished one shot further back at 116.

Feller's birdie on the first extra hole came after both golfers had reached the par-five first hole at the Country Club in three. Peterson, putting first from about eight feet, missed his try for a birdie when his putt slid below the hole.

A field of about 65 golfers competed in the annual tournament, which began with 18 holes of qualifying play for flights Saturday. Feller and Harry Hogan of the Country Club led qualifiers with 75s.

Going into the final nine holes Sunday, Feller had a three stroke lead over the field. Peterson forced the tie when he birdied the 26th hole, then saved his par on the 27th.

Mel Manske of Highland won the first flight with an eagle two on the second extra hole in a playoff with Jerry Harris of Highland. They had tied after 27 holes with scores of 118. Bill Peltier of Escanaba was third with 120.

Other flight winners were:

2nd Flight - 1, Harold VanEffen, Escanaba, 74; 2, Ed Gravelle, Escanaba, 78; 3, Bill Eis Jr., Escanaba, 79;

Swimmers Set Eight Records

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — The greatest array of young U.S. swimmers ever to compete togther broke eight world records and tied one and set two American records in other events in Santa Clara's International Invitational swim meet the past three days.

Three youngsters — Mark Spitz and Claudia Kolb of Santa Clara Swim Club and Debbie Meyer of Sacramento, Calif., each set two world marks.

Catie Ball of Jacksonville, Fla., set one and tied one. Pam Kruse of Pompano Beach, Fla., set the other.

Spitz, 17, also set a 2:07 flat American mark in the 200-meter butterfly Saturday.

Mike Gurton of Sacramento set another, 8:52.9 for 800 meters en route to victory in 16:47.9 in the 1,500-meter free-style.

Spitz thus set a record each day two different strokes.

On Friday he recovered the 400 meter freestyle he had lost on Tuesday with 4:08.8. Sunday he swam 100 yards butterfly in 56.3. The old records were 4:09.2 by Alain Mosconi of France and 57 flat by Luis Nicolao of Argentina.

Miss Meyer, a 14-year-old who sews all of her own clothes, set two records in one race Sunday when AAU officials agreed to provide four timers for the finish of each.

Debbie swam 800 meters freestyle in 9:35.8 while winning the 1,500 in 18:11.1 that broke the 9:36.0 set by Sharon Finneram of Santa Clara in 1964 and the 18:12.9 by Patty Caretto, Los Angeles, AC, in 1966.

Miss Ball, 17, swam 200 meters breaststroke Sunday in 2:40.5 to beat the 2:40.8 by Russia's Galina Prozumenshikova. An AAU official said Catie is the first U. S. swimmer ever to hold a world breaststroke mark.

Experience Key To Beard's Golf

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)— Frank Beard, consistently in the money and winner three times this year on the golf tournament circuit, says experience is the key to success as a pro.

"It's the same in my business as yours," he said Sunday as he picked up the $20,000 top money in the $100,000 Speedway Open and boosted his winnings for the year to $84,901.78.

"Improvement is negative," Beard added. "You make fewer mistakes."

It was his third victory of the season, the others having come in the Tournament of Champions and at Houston. The only other three-time winner this season is Julius Boros.

Consistency marked Beard's come-from-behind victory. He beat the par 36-36—72 in each round, shooting 70-71-69-69—279. He was three strokes back of Rod Funseth and R.H. Sikes in the first round, four behind Funseth after 36 holes, and two back of Funseth starting the final round.

Powers Dumps Esky Cubs 5-3

Powers-Spalding moved into a tie for first place in the Waubang League Sunday by beating the previously undefeated Escanaba Cubs 5-3 at Al Ness Field.

The victory lifed Powers-Spalding's record to 3 wins and one loss, the same as the Cubs' in the American Legion league.

In the other game Sunday, Cooks capitalized on Manistique errors in the ninth inning for three runs in an 8-7 victory.

Tom Miller was the winning pitcher for Cooks, while Russ King took the loss. Neil Hartman had two singles for the winners and Mike Lund drove in two runs with a single in the third inning.

Smith Figures 50 More Wins Enough

DETROIT (AP) With the Detroit Tigers at the All-Star break, Manager Mayo Smith said he thinks his club must win 50 more games to capture the American League pennant.

"I still think 95 victories will take it," Smith said Sunday after watching the Tigers split a doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox. The Tigers won the first game 10-4 to run their winning streak to seven, but the Red Sox took the nightcap 3-0 and broke a five-game losing streak.

"I'm not happy with where we are," Smith said. "But we could have been a hell of a lot worse off. We went through a bad streak and we're fortunate to be where we are.

"We've got to play better the second half," he said.

The Tigers stand 45-35 at the break, in second place two games behind Chicago. Minnesota is only half a game behind Detroit.

Hit Homer

Dick McAuliffe and pitcher Earl Wilson clubbed homers for the Tigers in the opener and Jim Northrup smacked a two-run single in the decisive third inning.

McAuliffe smacked his homer in the first inning for Detroit. It lifted the All-Star shortstop to the Tiger lead with 16, one ahead of the injured Al Kaline.

Boston got to Wilson for three runs in the third. Two Tiger errors and singles by pitcher Gary Bell and Carl Yastrzemski did the damage.

But the Tigers roared back in the bottom of the third. With one out, Lenny Green singled. Jerry Lumpe grounded out, but Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash drew walks.

Green scored on a wild pitch and Jim Northrup followed with a two-run single. Freehan drove him home with a single.

Detroit got four more in the fourth on Wilson's homer, a double by Green and singles by Lumpe, McAuliffe and Cash.

Four Straight

Wilson, who has whipped Boston four straight times, said, "I've just been lucky against them, I guess. I had a good fast ball and a pretty good slider today.

"I hit a fast ball for the homer and then I didn't get any more balls to swing at," he added.

Dave Wickersham had his troubles in the second game. A triple by Jerry Adair and a homer by Smith in the second would have been enough for Boston. But the Sox added a homer in the eighth by Yastrzemski to make it 3-0. The Tigers hit some long outs, but couldn't touch Boston starter Jim Lonborg.

He tired badly from the heat and was relieved by John Wyatt in the eighth.

Lonborg almost passed out on the bench between innings, he was so exhausted," said Boston Manager Dick Williams.

The Tigers go against the Senators at Washington Thursday with Joe Sparma and Denny McLain schedulsd to pitch.

Twins Pitchers Star At Plate

By The Associated Press

Jim Kaat and Dave Boswell, who started catching up with American League hitters a month ago, are holding their own against the pitchers too.

The Minnesota Twins drubbed Chicago's American League leaders 7-4 and 5-1 Sunday as winning pitchers Kaat and Boswell stroked two hits apiece and delivered three key runs between them.

Kaat singled to start a two-run rally in the fifth inning of the opener and slammed a two-run homer in the sixth while rolling to his seventh victory in eight decisions since June 10.

Boswell drilled two singles and drove in the go-ahead run in the fourth inning of the nightcap on the way to his third straight triumph and fifth in the last month.

Squares Record

The doubleheader sweep left the third-place Twins 2½ games behind the White Sox and one-half length back of Detroit.

The Tigers bombed Boston 10-4 for their seventh straight victory before bowing 3-0 to the Red Sox in the second game of a downed Kansas City 4-2, Washington swept Cleveland 8-5 and 4-2, and Baltimore beat New York 2-1 after losing 3-1 in the completion of Saturday night's suspended game.

Kaat, who was 1-7 when Cal Ermer replaced Sam Mele as the Twins' manager a month ago, squared his record at 8-8 in the opener at Chicago. The Twins, beaten 2-1 and 1-0 in the first two games of the four-game series, rebounded with a 14-hit attack that pinned 10-game winner Joe Horlen with only his second loss — both to Minnesota.

Kaat struck out eight and yielded eight hits before tiring in the eighth. Ron Kline finished up.

Boswell, who didn't win his first game until May 21 and was 3-3 when the Twins changed pilots, scattered seven hits before giving way to Al Worthington with one out in the ninth. The young right-hander, who reeled off eight straight victories last summer for a 12-5 mark before being sidelined in August with arm trouble, boosted his 1967 record to 7-5.

He and Kaat have clicked for 11 of the Twins' 20 victories since Ermer took over and are 5-0 between them during the club's current string of 10 victories in 12 games.

Mincher Hot

Don Mincher belted a two-run homer, giving him 10 RBI in his last five games, as the Angels trimmed the As's for their sixth straight victory. Run-scoring singles by Bob Rodgers and pinch hitter Pubba Morton completed the California attack. George Brunet gained his seventh victory in 18 decisions, with a ninth inning assist from relief ace Minnie Rojas.

Frank Howard's 23rd and 24th homers and a three-run shot by Ken McMullen powered the Senators to their victory in the opener at Cleveland. Fred Valentine won the nightcap with a two-run clout in the eighth after Bernie Allen and Dick Nen hit solo homers for the Senators.

Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles and pinch hitter Vic Roznovsky delivered the winning run with a seventh inning single, enabling southpaw Pete Richert to defeat New York's Mel Stottlemyre.

A two-run single by John Kennedy in the ninth proved the winning margin for the Yankees in the completion of Saturday night's game, which was scoreless in the seventh inning when an 11:30 curfew forced its suspension.

Ryun Smashes Metric Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pair of the world's most celebrated distance runners, Kansas collegian Jim Ryun and Kenya policeman Kipchoge Keino, emerged more formidable than ever today in the wake of the United States-British Commonwealth track and field meet.

Ryun, the lean, powerful holder of the world mile record, added the 1,500-meter mark to his growing record collection, running 3:33.1 Saturday in the opening session of the two-day international competition.

Keino, possessor of the world 3,000-meter mark and an easy, loping stride, came back Sunday to outduel Australia's great Ron Clarke in the 5,000 meters with a 13:36.8 clocking.

Clarke was timed in 13:40.9. Diminutive Gerry Lindgren, America's lone hope against Keino and Clarke, was bothered by foot blisters and finished a painful third in 13:47.8.

Ryun, in beating Keino and smashing the metric mile record of 3:35.6 by Herb Elliott of Australia in the 1960 olympics, said: "It was my plan all along to start running well at this time of year. I was surprised that I beat the record by so much and I'm real happy about the time.

On the whole, the U.S. men's team dominated their Commonwealth counterparts, 254-170, while the visiting women gained a 125-102 victory over the American gals.

Chance To Start For American Stars

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Right - hander Dean Chance draws the assignment as starting pitcher in a ball park he knows well as the American League seeks to break the National's victory string in Tuesday's All-Star game.

Manager Hank Bauer, whose Baltimore Orioles broke the National League's hold on the World Series in four straight last fall, jumped the gun and named his starting pitcher and batting order Sunday night.

Announcement was scheduled today at the same time Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers tells of his choices.

He's expected to name Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants to take the mound. The right-hander from the Dominican Republic boasts a 12-7 record and pitched a four-hitter against the Dodgers on Saturday.

Chance hurled five seasons with the California Angels including 1966 at the new $24-million Anaheim Stadium, site of this All-Star tussle scheduled to start at 4:15 p.m. PDT.

Traded To Twins

After last season, he was traded to Minnesota where he has compiled an 11-7 mark so far. In 1964, the year he won the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the majors, Chance hurled three runless innings in the All-Star game.

Bauer's announced batting order has Brooks Robinson, Baltimore, 3b; Rod Carew, Minnesota, 2b; Tony Oliva, Minnesota, cf; Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota, 1b; Tony Conigliaro, Boston, rf; Carl Yastrezemski, Boston, lf; Bill Freehan, Degrot, c; Rico Petrocelli, Boston, ss; and Chance.

A pitcher can work no more than three innings.

Injuries too Al Kaline and Frank Robinson have damaged the American attack. Detroit's Kaline, the top vote-getter in the ballotting for the starting team, suffered a broken bone in his hand when he hit a bat rack when angered over striking out.

Baltimore's Robinson, the league's most valuable in 1966 and the World Series star, has been bothered by double vision since colliding with Al Weis of the Chicago White Sox on June 27.

Defensively, each manager faces a similar problem. The voting failed to name a centerfielder on either team, Bauer's solution was naming Oliva who normally plays in right.

Alston has Lou Brock of St. Louis, a leftfielder, plus Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh who normally play in right.

San Francisco's Willie Mays has started in center for the Nationals every year since 1957 but was not voted to the starting team this time. Neither was Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, but both are reserves.

Cubs Dying Slow Death

By The Associated Press

It was sudden death for just about everybody in the National League except the Chicago Cubs, who are dying slowly.

Leo Durocher's Cubs, who had soared into the National League lead just one week ago, dropped their seventh straight game Sunday losing a three-hitter to Houston's Don Wilson, 6-0.

It completed a terrible week for the Cubs, who clung to second place despite their losing streak. Chicago trails first place St. Louis by 3½ games.

The Cardinals died suddenly Sunday, bowing 4-3 to Philadelphia on Tony Gonzalez' pinch homer in the 10th inning. Willie Mays' 10th inning single drove in San Francisco's only run as the Giants nipped the Dodgrs 1-0 on Mike McCormick's five-hitter.

Willie Stargell poled a tremendous leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth, giving Pittsburgh a 2-1 decision over Cincinnati. Jerry Buchek's two-out pinch homer tied the game for New York and then the Mets pushed over another ninth inning run, nipping Atlanta 5-4.

Eisenhart will depart from Chicago July 21 to be a member of the host corp while at the Jamboree. He will be assigned to a foreign contingent and live in a subcamp while performing this service responsibility. All service corp members must be Eagle Scouts of at least 15 years of age.

The remaining U.P. Scouts and Hentschell will arrive at the Yorkville Scout camp for three days of training before departing on special chartered train for the West. They will enjoy a tour of Seattle and a cruise to Victoria Island before arriving at the Jamboree Aug. 1. Following the nine Jamboree days, they will visit Glacier Park before returning.

U-M Glee Club Sings In Wales; Heads For Home

LONDON (AP)—The 56-member University of Michigan Men's Glee Club today headed for home after its globe-circling tour.

The singers left Wales Sunday by bus to see a little more of Britain before starting their trip back to Ann Arbor, Mich.

With them they took the third prize of $140 awarded for their singing in the chief male voice contest at Llangollen International Eisteddfod.

Dr. James D. Shortt, director of state services at the university, said:

"It was an unforgettable experience to compete in this world-famous festival. We wanted to sing at Llangollen as a climax to our world tour. Of course, it would have been delightful to have gained the first prize, but we have enjoyed seeing so many choirs from other countries in friendly competition."

Their plane is expected to reach Detroit at 11 p.m. today.

During the trip the choir has sung in 18 countries, from Japan to the Soviet Union, India to Wales. In about 50 days they have given 30 concerts.

Dinner-Dance Planned At Country Club

GLADSTONE

National Guard Plans For Camp

Two more training assemblies, one scheduled for tonight, will be held by Company E, Gladstone bridge unit of the 107th Engineers, before leaving for two weeks of field training at Camp Grayling, it is reported by Capt. George Anderson.

Tonight the meeting will be at 7:30 o'clock and the second assembly will be at the same hour on Friday.

All loading of equipment, personal gear and administrative work will be completed on Friday night.

More than 70 men will depart from the Gladstone Armory on Saturday, July 15 at 6 a.m. On convoy of 12 vehicles will transport the troops to Camp Grayling, with Capt. Anderson and Lt. Alan LeBreche in command.

At Grayling the troops will move into the field on Monday for tactical infantry training riot control, defensive tactics and chemical and radiological training. Also included will be foot bridge construction, floating bridge construction, anchorage work, and training on the unit's new 63-ton armored vehicle launched bridge.

The unit's three sections will be under the command of Sgts. Gilbert Helgemo, John Sorault and Thomas Elegeert. Specialist Paul Anderson will command the new armored vehicle platoon. Master Sgt. Ivan Gagne will command the first bridge platoon in the absence of Sgt. William Buchholtz, who will be unable to attend for medical reasons.

Capt. Anderson said that a heavy and interesting training schedule will take up most of the troops' daylight hours and also eight to 10 hours of night infantry tactics.

This will be the first year for many of the new men to operate a bridge company, and for many of them a chance to prove their skills in leadership, Capt. Anderson said.

Dairymen Urged To Vaccinate All Their Heifers

All heifers raised for herd replacement whether beef or dairy should be vaccinated for Brucellosis Disease. "To go without vaccination is taking chances and really playing with fire," says Joseph Heirman, Delta Extension director.

"Calves not vaccinated are subject to the disease at any time later in life. It is a disease that spreads rapidly and can wipe out a herd before it is brought under control. Animals vaccinated are protected against the disease.

"Don't raise heifers for herd replacement if you failed to vaccinate them between four and eight months of age. Sell them for slaughter instead and get some that are protected by Brucellosis vaccine. If in doubt about selling for beef, vaccinate anyway. You cannot sell heifers for breeding stock to other farmers unless they are vaccinated."

Gladstone Sets Golf Tourney

A two-ball best ball tournament will be held Saturday at the Gladstone Golf Course beginning at 3:00 p.m.

Members are urged to sign up by Thursday by calling the Golf Course, phone GA 8-9646. Teams will be posted on the bulletin board Saturday morning.

A cook out will be held in the evening. Salad, rolls, desert and coffee will be prepared. Each member is asked to bring his own meat. The committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Damitz, Mr. and Mrs. Grier Ivory and Mr. and Mrs. Don Pfotenhauer.

Briefly Told

Shawn Cassidy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cassidy of 607 N. 9th St. escaped injury when he road his bicycle into the front of a city truck driven by Merrick Seely at the intersection of the alley and N. 9th St. between Delta and Superior Aves.

Cabot's Beard Foils Child Scene Stealers

By SEBASTIAN CABOT

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Anyone who plies his trade as an actor knows that high on the cumbersome list of worst enemies stand those twin disasters, children and animals. I am fond of children, and even of animals. Their presence in my presence on a screen, however, does not amuse me.

Children and animals are the world's greatest natural, untrained scene stealers. A child who has been trained to scene-steal is easily dealt with—a gentle shove here, a sly cuff there. His mother-devised tactics are more to be pitied than censured. The stage mother does not live whose offspring can match infighting tactics on camera with your servant.

But what do you do when you find yourself face to face, week after debilitating week, with the utterly guileless and charmingly freckled likes of Anissa Jones and Johnnie Whitaker, not to mention an equally fetching 15-year-old named Kathy Garver? How does one fight this kind of outrageously innocent scene-stealing talent? That is the professional cross I am asked to bear in my role in "Family Affair."

Just Strokes Beard

If one sports the kind of magnificent beard I have carefully nurtured over the years, one has it made. In the presence of these too-talented tykes, I need not stoop to the eye-catching gesture or to harrumphing like an ill-tempered judge with a bad cold. I need only stroke my beard as if in deep and significant thought. Attention is instantly drawn to where it quite properly belongs, the star of the scene.

An adult viewer, given the choice, will look at a child before he will look at a fellow adult. Adults, especially American adults, tend to be somewhat sappy where children are concerned.

Thus the actor unfortunate enough to find himself veritably surrounded by children, in an American television series must look to his own defenses. He cannot appear the brute. He cannot be obvious.

Neck Of Turkey

So I go back, again, to the beard. Its greatest, and most delightfully subtle, value lies in the fact that the children are quite unaware of it.

They do not realize, God bless them, that it is the rock upon which I shatter the devastating sword of their own natural attributes. Let Buffy give that sadly solemn look of hers and I merely stroke the beard. Let Jody grin his saber-toothed grin and the beard will waggle. Let Cissy exude that frightful teen-age charm and the beard points like a spaniel that has scented danger. As indeed it has.

The actor dines only at the table of applause—and, as in any well-run household, the choice cuts do not go to the children.

I love them dearly. But at my table they get the neck of the turkey.

Perfume, Dark Skin, Lure The Pesky Mosquito

DETROIT (AP) — Early spring rains gave Michigan's hordes of mosquitos unusually good breeding grounds this year but hot weather has cut the population to normal, says Donald Juchartz, an agricultural agent for Michigan State University.

But he predicts there will still be more than enough of the bloodthirsty pests around to plague campers, fishermen and boaters well into the fall.

And even with the hot weather, marshy areas and ponds still have more mosquitos per square foot than usual.

The outdoorsman will take scant comfort in knowing that mosquitoes live off other things besides his blood.

When he's not around, mosquitoes eat plants and animals, especially birds. Male mosquitoes, whose needle - like beaks won't pierce human skin, usually feed on plant juices. Females are the only ones that bite humans, settling for birds and animals when men aren't available.

Researchers have found mosquitoes are attracted most to dark-skinned persons in dark clothes and those who breathe heavily or wear perfume or after shave lotion.

They tend to avoid people in poor health or with cool skin temperature.

$15,000 Jackson Archives Center Planned By GOP

JACKSON(AP)—AN IOWA congressman was named today as chairman of a drive to set up a Republican archives center in Jackson, which bills itself as the birthplace of the GOP.

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, chairman of the U.S. Capital Historical Society, accepted the assignment at a Republican rally attended by GOP leaders and party workers.

The proposed archives would be part of a museum complex in Jackson. A fund - raising drive is being sponsored by the Jackson Historical Foundation. It has set a goal of $15,000.
